

Black Sky Training

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Oviedo, FL. - Black Sky Training is proud to announce the addition of Starr Aviation Insurance to its list of aviation insurance companies offering discounts to BST alumni. General Aviation pilots completing Black Sky Training's Scenario Based Physiology Training will now qualify for a discount on their premiums. BST's Scenario Based Physiology training allows the pilot to experience the symptoms and warning signs of hypoxia while flying in the safety of a hypobaric chamber. The Scenario Based Physiology course qualifies for inclusion in a pilot's log book meeting the requirements of 14 CFR 61.31(g)(1). BST's Master CFIs and AGIs provide the highest level of training to recognize and react to the potentially deadly effects of slow onset hypoxia for pilots and crew.

Starr Aviation has joined the growing list of insurance companies offering discounts to Black Sky Training students.

Contact:

David Allen V.P. Marketing and Communications
Black Sky Training - www.blacksky.aero
Dallen@blacksky.aero 559-281-3163 (cell)